PADUCAH KENTUCKY. FRIDAY EVENING, MAY 19, 1905.

10 CENTS PER WEEK

WITH LOUD CRASH TRAINS COLLIDED

Six Men Killed in an Illinois Central Wreck.

The Dead.

D. J. Tierney, conductor on
No. 152, Cecilia, Ky.
W. H. English, engineer on 193, Cecilia, Ky.
Fireman Charles Sinclair, Cecilia, Ky.
Brakeman Cordie Smith.
Brakeman Dan English.
Mat Owen, colored tramp, of Leitchfield, Ky.

The Injured.

Fireman Sidney Bell, of 152, fatally.
Engineer W. H. Yates, of the 152, of Central City.
Gus Fallinger, or Sawyer, passenger on local, of 3024 Dawson avenue, Cincinnati.
Dick Crane, of Columbus, O., and several other passengers.

Six killed outright and fully that number injured, is the result of a head-on freight wreck two miles south of Melleny, a small station 65 miles north of Central City, on the Louisville district of the I. C.
yesterday afternoon late. The wreck occurred on a curve, and both trains were going at a rapid rate of speed.
The crews not suspecting danger, were unprepared for the shock when it came, which accounts for the number killed. The wreck was caused by a miscalculation of time and is said to have been the fault of the local freight crew.

The trains wrecked were a manifest freight No. 152 east bound, and a local freight No. 193. The manifest train was pulled by engine No. 3, Engineer W. H. Yates, and Conductor D. J. Tierney; the local was pulled by engine No. 1712 Engineer W. H.
English and Conductor Tardock. The local freight crew was trying to make a station ahead of the manifest freight and miscalculated the time, it is alleged. The scene of the wreck was on a curve and the en-ginesmen were unable to see each other until they struck the curve. It was too late to jump and in an instant the engines struck. The crash, it is said, could be heard for miles around.

There were 20 cars in the manifest freight and seven in the local and they were badly demolished or damaged. The engines were buckled together and are total wrecks.

As soon as possible, relief parties went to work searching the wreck
for bodies. Conductor Tierney, Engineer English, Fireman Sinclair, Brakeman Cordie Smith and Brakeman Dan English were found shortly after the search began.

After half an hour's work another body was taken from the debris. It was that of a colored boy supposed to have been a tramp stealing a ride. A further search failed to reveal any more bodies and the work of clearing the track began.

Physicians were sent to the scene of the wreck to administer to the injured. Fireman Sidney Bell was found to be fatally injured and can not live. Engineer W. H. Yates was injured by severe cuts and bruises, and two passengers on the local were badly injured. They are Gus Sawyer, of 3024 Dawson avenue, Cincinnati,
O., and Dick Crane, of Columbus, O.
They were injured by being thrown about the caboose in which they were riding.

The work of clearing the track required the services of everybody possible to secure on the district and it was not until early this morning that it was cleared sufficiently to enable the trains to get by. Train No.
101 which should have arrived last night at 6 o'clock was run through at 7 a. m. today as the first section of
No. 101 which should have passed at 3:30 this morning. The wreck caused a delay to all freight trains and local dispatchers were kept busy dispatching trains when the track was cleared and trains started again
this morning.

The wreck proved a costly one for the railroad. It would have been prevented had the block signals been installed, but this district, from Central City to Louisville, is the only one not equipped with them. They go all the way from Central City to Man-phis, and are to be installed on the district between Louisville and Central City, Supt. Grace, of telegraph, having ordered the material only a few days ago.

The wreck was the result of the engineer and conductor of train No.
193, a local freight, between Louisville and Central City, misreading their orders and running on the time of train No. 152, a through freight, north-bound.

The south-bound train was ordered to remain in a siding at Echols until 4:10 o'clock. This was read at 3:10 o'clock a few minutes after which time the local pulled out.

Two miles below Echols on an abrupt curve known as Southard's Creek, the collision with the through freight occurred. Both trains were going at full speed, and the engines were demolished.

One unusual thing about the wreck is the number of people killed. Six is not a large number for a some wrecks, but it is seldom that many are killed in a freight wreck.

WHELEW REID

Hopes to Preserve Our Good Feeling
With England.

New York, May 19.—Three hundred prominent men attended a farewell banquet given Whitelaw Reid, United States ambassador to Great Britain, by the Lotus club last night.

Mr. Reid responding to an introduction said the most gratifying thing about it was that it came without the filing of a single recommendation, approved by the senate without a dissenting voice and received by the press and public with general cordiality.

He said he hoped to maintain "in full force that good understanding between ourselves and Great Britain, which has grown clearer and stronger at each step of our advance in paths that have been steadily broadening before us every year and month since our peace with Spain."

THE PRESIDENT

portation.

Washington, May 19.—In a newspaper statement, published with White House authority, it is announced that the president will accept no more free railroad transportation. He paid all of the expenses of his recent hunting trip, which footed up, special train and all, about $3,000.

It is announced that in conformity with his declared policy he will refuse transportation on the railroad lines to the south during his October trip, paying full charges.

there for the purpose of lynching Ed

ly, and the negro would have been hanged had not the sheriff learned of the plot and spirited him away.

BATTLESHIP BORODINO, OF ADMIRAL ROJESTVENSKY'S FLEET.

THE GOVERNMENT MUST TAKE CHARGE

In Order to Ever Get a Fair Deal
in Rates.

Is the Opinion of Commissioner Prouty—Iowans Indorse the President's Position.

JUSTICE HARLAN SPOKE TODAY.

Washington, May 19.—Commissioner Prouty was before the senate interstate committee yesterday and stated that empowering the commission to adjust inequalities and injustices between a shipper and a railroad, did not mean that the commission was to have power to fix all interstate rates.

In his opinion railway rates are lower now than if they had been fixed by a commission. Competition in railways, he declared, had ceased or would cease in a very short time. If the commission had power to fix rates in order to make differentials it must have, he suggested, power to fix both a maximum and minimum rates. He believed that when a rate is fixed by a commission it should take effect in thirty days.

What he wanted more than anything else was that the duty of the commission should be defined. Commissioner Prouty asserted that in the many cases where orders of the commission had not been sustained in the courts the decisions were upon a question of law and not findings of fact and that the unreasonableness of rates condemned by the commission were not passed upon by the court. He believes rebates are still paid to some extent. These were under elevator and terminal charges.
Discrimination, he predicted would be a greater evil than rebates in the future. Answering a question of Senator Newlands as to the possibility of a square deal in all railroad business, the witness said the only way to effect that was for the government to take control of the roads.

Against the Trusts.

St. Louis, Mo., May 19.—President Roosevelt and the house of representatives were heartily commended for their efforts to curb trusts and corporations by the Iowa Congregational church conference yesterday.
The resolution was handed the resolution committee by Rev. Wm. Salter of Burlington, Ia., and the committee endorsed it and brought it to the attention of the association. There was no dissenting voice when a vote was taken.

Harlan and Bryan.

Winona Lake, Ind., May 19.—In the course of his address before the Presbyterians Justice Harlan of the United States supreme court, expressed regret that this country is a world power. "It will be regretted," he said, "that we are governing millions of people without their consent and are taking on a colonial system such as England has. We dare not become a world power unless we are willing to accept all the responsibilities."
One of those responsibilities," he explained, "is that of spreading religion."

Wm. J. Bryan, one of the speakers, paid a tribute to the missionaries in foreign lands, saying that they are better Christians than those who

El Reno, Okla., May 19.—Lieut.
Granville Chapman, stationed at Fort Heno, was shot in the back while assisting in the maneuvers of six companies in a running fight, and instantly killed.

Six companies of infantry were called out for field maneuvers in the presence of Brig. F. M. Lee, whose headquarters is at San Antonio.

While engaged in a running fight
across the prairie, Lieut. Chapman, who was acting as the battalion adjutant, received a shot from a cartridge fired from the companies opposing him. He died where he fell.

Funeral play is expected and a right examination is being made.

Bankers Endorse Roosevelt.

New York, May 19.—The Savings bank association of New York, which held its annual session in this city declined to adopt resolutions opposing granting of further powers to the interstate commerce commission and cheered a speech by former Congressman Combs of Brooklyn, urging bankers to do nothing to tie the hands of President Roosevelt. Two hundred bankers, representing savings institutions from all parts of the state, were present.

liers mostly Russian and German,
are at anchor off Nhatc, Annam Coast, under the supervision of an old French gunboat, the Caronde, to see that no breach of neutrality is committed. Twenty other colliers

Foreigners to Leave Vladivostok.

Washington, May 19.—Richard S.
Greener, American commercial agent
at Vladivostok, has called the state department that all foreign commercial agents there have been asked to leave Vladivostok fortress and are given permission to reside in cities of the Maritime provinces. It is recorded here that a similar measure was adopted by Russian authorities at Port Arthur at the beginning of the investment of that place by the Japanese, and hence it is assumed that Vladivostok is expected to become a center of the seat of war soon.

Rain Interferes.

Guishu Pass, Manchuria, May 19.
—After several days' rain a violent dewpour set in yesterday which has

will furnish green fodder and so favor future operations by cavalry.

wing and also are sending important reinforcements to Korea, but no change in the position at the front has been noticed.

Three Killed by Bomb.

Warsaw, May 19.—Four men were instantly killed by a bomb explosion poorly dressed working man, who aroused their suspicion in trying to avoid detectives. He fell and a bomb in his pocket exploded. The workingman, detectives and a Jew who was passing, were blown to pieces.

The governor-general was expected to pass through the street in which the explosion occurred and it is thought the working man was living in wait for him.

drive away noisy cats which had gathered under the window of her has cost the life of Mrs. Anna Hildbrand. Filling a pan with hot water the woman stepped out upon the fire felines in the court-yard below. Just as she did this the fire escape broke and Mrs. Hildbrand was carried down to instant death.

Indignant Citizens Shouted "Thieves" at Their Councilmen.

Philadelphia, May 19.—

Amid scenes of disorder unprecedented in the annals of Philadelphia's legislative body, the city council last night voted to lease the city's gas works to the United States Gas Improvement company for seventy-five years for $25,000,000, the money to be paid in various amounts before 1907.
The council chamber and committee rooms were crowded with excited citizens protesting against the lease.
The climax was reached when the vote in the common council was announced.

THE PROSPECT NOW IS NOT SO BRIGHT

President of Teamster's Union
Says He Will Not Arbitrate.

Blotting Has Again Broken Out in Places—Team Owners Confident of An Agreement.

SOMETHING DEFINITE TONIGHT

Chicago, May 19.—Peace in the teamsters' strike is still hanging in the balance, and although it is generally expected a settlement will soon be reached, it now seems further away than it did 24 hours ago.

It was confidently asserted by the Team Owners' association that the teamsters had consented to arbitrate
the question of whether or not union teamsters should make deliveries to hoyoted houses. President Shea, of the Teamsters' union, upset this arrangement entirely, declaring he had never agreed to any such proposition.

This understanding caused a halt
in the impending settlement and a meeting was arranged for last night between the teamsters and the team owners.

For the first time in several days
the spirit of riots broke out yesterday and there were numerous fights between non-union men and union teamsters. One of the disturbances at 22d street and Indiana avenue blocked all traffic and delayed the street cars for one-half hour. The police were compelled to use their clubs vigorously in order to disperse the crowd and made several arrests.

Several union teamsters were attacked near 26th street and Wentworth avenue and their union buttons torn off. Union men were also vigorously punished before making their escape.

After a strenuous effort to break the deadlock the teamsters' joint council adjourned at 1:30 this morning to reconsider the proposed action again tonight. That the men considered arbitration is regarded as a hopeful sign. The team owners are confident the plan will carry at tonight's meeting.

A Louisville dispatch says:
"Only one member of each crew escaped alive. It is possible there are other dead under the wreckage, as the south-bound train carried passengers and it is not definitely known how many are aboard."

There are numerous rumors this afternoon that the teamsters' strike will be called off, the drivers making absolute surrender.

SENATOR McCOMAS

Will Be Appointed Judge in District of Columbia.

Washington, May 19.—The president has decided to appoint former Senator McComas, of Maryland, a successor to Judge Morris, of the District of Columbia court of appeals.
Judge Morris will resign.

Made a Sortie.

Okla's Headquarters, via Eusan,
May 19.—At noon yesterday a Russian force consisting of three or four companies of infantry, seven or eight squadrons of cavalry and three or four guns appeared north of Chang
Tr. After firing several guns they retreated in northerly direction.

Will Fight to a Finish.

New York, May 19.—At a meeting at his home James H. Hyde and his attorneys are reported to have decided to carry on to a finish the fight for control of the Equitable Life Assurance society.

The moment the president of the common council announced the vote
a great uproar was started in the gallery.
Amidst hisses and cries of
"thieves," police cleared the galleries, but this was accomplished only after several clashes between police and spectators. The select council later passed the bill by a larger majority.
It is expected the mayor will veto the measure but the council will pass it again.

The Cairo fans were treated to the unpleasantness of a third consecutive defeat at the hands of the Indians yesterday afternoon, and as a result the press in Cairo has become almost fiendish in its knocking. Yesterday the Giants were defeated by a score of 3 to 1, the winning run being made in the ninth inning by a three base hit. The Cairo Bulletin gives a very caustic account of the game, blaming the players for "throwing it away," but the Indians say the Cairo players did as well as they could and should not be so soundly scored for losing. The game was without features except Vahrenhorst's triple in the ninth which scored the winning run to Paducah.

The Cairo Bulletin comes out today with a scorching roast for Hughes, Bell and Harvey, and says if they do not play better ball to release them. The Bulletin writer alleges that Bell, Hughes and Harvey struck out purposely yesterday and Holycross intentionally popped a fly into the air. It seems that the press and fans are a little harder to please than elsewhere and do not take the defeat of the home team with the same grace that members of the team do. The trouble is that Cairo is used to having the strongest team in the league and hasn't it this year. As a result they can't stand it. Brace up, neighbor, the games with Paducah were all close—1 to 0, 3 to 2 and 1 to 3.

That is the way with these pitchers. Tie a can to them and they will come back and, though their delivery is pounded and the team behind them makes errors, they will manage to beat the fellows who decorated them. So good-bye Carnes...Cairo is getting it at Paducah. That bunch at the McCracken county seat seems to have the bit in its teeth. This thing of running clear off with the batting before the season is well started isn't half fair.—Henderson Glenner.

The Dick Fowler will bring up a big excursion from Cairo Sunday on account of the ball game.

We feel sure and confident that the Champions will land the pennant for the third consecutive time in Cairo, but this reminds us of the following story: A farmer driving a yoke of oxen through the woods, occasionally laying his long whip straight across their backs in an endeavor to hasten their gait, soliloquized thusly: "I believe in God, I believe in heaven and believe that I will, when I die, reach that place, but," and he laid the lash down heavy on the backs of the steers, "I would give this yoke of oxen if I only knew it."—Cairo Telegram.

The Indians and Giants arrived this morning from Cairo in excellent trim. The Glinns say they did not intend to lose all three games and will put up Waggoner against Platt this afternoon. Waggoner has not pitched against the Indians yet, and will give them a hard run. He is an excellent pitcher and hard to connect with.

Vahrenhorst is doing fine hitting now and when needed, too. His three bagger yesterday won the game for the Indians.

Will Play Paducah Amateurs.

CRAZY MAN

ADmits KILLING FIVE PEOPLE BEFORE HE GOT RELIGIOUS.

It is Believed That He is a Little Crazy On the Subject of Religion.

Cincinnati, O., May 19.—Albert Johnson, colored, when arrested at the home of his brother, in James alley, Newport, Ky., and questioned by the Newport police authorities, admitted having sent a postal card to James Moore, of 528 East Fourth street, Newport, Thursday in which he threatened to kill him before the day passed unless he returned a certain pin. He also admitted having written a threatening letter to the chief of police at Chester, W. Va., to which he signed the name "A. Johnson."

In the letter to the Chester police chief he said he would confess some of the crimes he had committed, because he now is converted. He said that he and his partner, Coney Williams, killed a woman at Chester, W. Va., two Indians in Kenton town, Pa.; a man at Hyndman, Pa., and a woman at Martin's Ferry, O. He says he intended to kill three Cleveland O., men, but became converted and changed his mind. He says in the letter that his partner was hanged recently at Roanoke, Va., and that he sent him word to stop killing people.

The police here believe Johnson is insane on the subject of religion. Moore's father, Capt. Luke Moore, is a well known Ohio river man.

PLEASANT REUNION

COL. JOHN THEOBALD RUNS
ACROSS TWO SCHOOLMATES
IN GERMAN VILLAGE.

One He Had Not Seen For 53 Years
—The Other Since '62—Went to School Together in Germany.

An enjoyable feature of the annual val last night, and one not on the program was the reunion in the German Village of three jolly Germans, two of whom had not seen each other since they went to school together near the River Rhine in Germany in 1854, and the other two, since '62. They were Col. John Theobald, of Paducah, and Messrs. George Young and George Betz, of Murphysboro, Ill.

The Illinois men came over on the excursion yesterday, and knowing that their former schoolmate was in Paducah, attempted to find him, but failed. Col. Theobald, who heard they were here, was also looking for them, but always managed to miss them, as none of them knew how the other looked.

As a result they continued to miss each other all day. All were at the German Village last night, however. The Illinois men had been very anxious to find their old schoolmate, and suddenly one of them exclaimed:

"Ich weisse das das ist Theobald!" This in English meant, "I'll bet that's Theobald (John)."

Col. Theobald heard and rushed over to them. The greetings were interspersed with tears and smiles and perhaps a few tears. Col. Theobald says it was one of the happiest moments of his life.

He had not seen Mr. Young for 53 years—since they separated on June 4, 1854, in Germany, and Col. Theobald was only 16 years old, and came to America. He had seen Mr. Betz once since that time. This was in an army hospital over in Illinois soon after the fight at Fort Donelson, about April 25, 1862. He accidentally recognized his old comrade, a member of the 9th Illinois, badly wounded, and as Col. Theobald married the following day, he had the ceremony performed so the injured soldier could be a witness to it, and never saw him again until yesterday.

The trio spent a pleasant evening together and promised to meet more often in the future than they have in the past.

Aldermen Adjourned.

The board of aldermen did not hold its regular meeting last night, as the carnival kept some of them away. The members present adjourned until Monday evening, when the regular business will be taken up.

HIT IN EYE
Car Conductor Painfully Injured by a Passenger.

Conductor J. J. Hollowell, of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois, is badly injured in the left eye, the result of an attack made on him by a stranger at Sixth and Broadway last night about 12 o'clock when Hollowell was taking his car to the shed.

The stranger boarded the car at Fourth and Broadway and refused to pay his fare. He was put off at Sixth street and began to swear at Hollowell, who struck him. The stranger then drew back and with what the conductor thinks were knuckles, struck him in the eye. The stranger then hurried away and escaped. Hollowell's eye is closed this morning, but the sight is not injured.

Wanted to Be Released.

Mrs. J. A. Smith, a bride of a day, called on Justice Jesse Young yesterday and wanted to know if he couldn't so easily marry her and her husband, as he married them the day before. The groom is from Marshall county and the bride from this county. She said her family objected to her marriage, and since she had thought it over she was afraid of the racket that would ensue when they found it out. The justice told her he could not accommodate her, and about this time her husband arrived and took her away.

Had a Close Call.

"Ax" Lay and Harry Shoemaker, two small boys, while riding boat waves, in a small canoe near Smithland, came near being drowned. They went out behind the Joe Fowler as she was coming into the landing when a wave filled their little craft full of water. They clung to it until they were rescued by Messrs. C. W. Chumant, Bishop Evans and Dr. E. R. Goodloe, who went to their assistance, in a skiff.

The matter of allowing the local shopmen more representatives in the board was taken up and referred to a committee consisting of Supt. A. H. Egan, Master Mechanic Turnbull and Conductor Wheden. The shopmen claim that it is the shop men's money principally which supports the hospital, and claim they should have a majority in the board of directors. The committee is to investigate and report back.

The matter of putting in a disinfecting plant at the hospital was referred to a committee consisting of Supt. A. H. Egan, Assistant Chief Surgeon Murrell and Master Mechanic Turnbull. It is the intention of the directors to fit out several rooms in the present laundry building for this department and also to fit out servants' quarters by the addition of four more rooms. The building is bleak and the committee is authorized to go ahead with improvements.

VERDICT RENDERED.

Jury in the J. H. Ramage Case Was Non-Committal.

An inquest was held yesterday afternoon late by Coroner James Crow over the remains of the late John H. Ramage, who died yesterday afternoon in the city hospital from an overdose of morphine. The verdict is as follows:

"We, the jury, after being duly sworn, find that J. H. Ramage, whose body we have examined, came to his death by an overdose of morphine.

(Signed) J. F. MARTIN,
DAVE RITCHIE,
JOHN KYLE,
WM. THOMPSON,
R. J. BARNHART,

The evidence adduced before Coroner Crow indicates that Ramage's death was suicidal, as he told Dr. Rozzell, during a brief interval, that he was tired living and wanted to die.

The remains were today at 11:30 taken to Shelby, Ky., his former home, for burial.

His Father Died in Oklahoma.

Mr. J. H. Rosenberger, a laundryman, who came here from Paducah a few weeks ago with a view of locating in this city, received word Monday morning that his father, P. A. Rosenberger had died at his home in El Reno, Oklahoma, on April 8. Mr. Rosenberger had been traveling for sometime and had not been in communication with his father for some months consequently knew nothing of his death until he received a notice from friends. Mr. Rosenberger and wife are at present stopping at Mrs. Skinner's boarding house on Main street.—Princeton Chronicle.

Left to Attend Funeral.

Mr. Charles M. Leake left last night for St. Louis to attend the funeral of Mr. Adams Wells, a prominent stock broker, who married Miss Florence Wandell, formerly of Paducah, and a cousin of Mr. Leake. The deceased was about 51 and leaves a grown son and daughter. It is not known what caused his death, but it was sudden, as he had not been ill.

II. PROFESSIONALS.

Lawyers, teachers, physicians and other professional men and women, especially if they are young, should start out with their finances right, their business principles correct, with the same care that they have prepared themselves for their individual professions.

If they do this they will have a well-rounded start, which is bound to make for greater success than a less complete plan of living. No life is complete in its scheme of living, that has not saving a part of it as well as spending.

Daily Thought.

To willful men the injuries that they themselves procure must be their schoolmasters.—Shakespeare.

A CASE OF STATISTICS.

"Public Misinformation" is the subject of an editorial in the Owensboro Inquirer which shows considerable thought. It calls attention to the fact that most of the evils, from the root of it all, money, down to minor evils, are largely creatures of the imagination or of fallacious statistics.

The Inquirer takes the case of the railroads and remarks:

"A case in point is a statement put out sometime ago by the Interstate Commerce commission to the effect that the cost of freight paid by the people in increased rates from 1899 to 1903, was $155,575,502, or more than $2 per head for all the men, women and children. This, bear in mind, was not the increased cost of freight, but the increase from the difference in rates.

Mr. Walker D. Hines, of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, one of the most accomplished railroad men in the country, has shown that these figures are utterly fallacious. He shows that the commission based its calculations on the rate of 95.2 cents per ton for freight moved in 1899, whereas the rate, as shown by the commission's own report, was actually 97.13 cents per ton, a difference of nearly 2 cents per ton. The basis rate of the calculation for 1903 was $1.0793 per ton, when the commission's own figures showed that the rate for that year was only $1.0515, a difference of more than two cents the other way, the total discrepancy being, if the tonnage had been the same for both years of 4.71 cents, or about 4 cents net.

Then, again, the commission made its figures on a partial report of the railroads, the full figures not being available. The correct difference on the available figures should have been about $165,000,000 instead of $155,475,502, and, if all the figures of all the railroads had been used, this amount would have been further cut down to $95,000,000.

"Another element of error, which makes the report of the commission worthless for all practical purposes, is that in many instances the same ton of freight is counted two or three times. A single ton of freight, moving over different lines, was counted as a different ton on every different line. It would happen that a ton of freight moving from San Francisco to New York or vice versa would be counted as five tons. It might be thought that this would have no effect as the same basis was used for both calculations, but it is shown that the difference is very marked, owing to the fact that there were many railroad combinations and consolidations in the years from 1899 to 1903. For instance in 1899, a ton of freight would be counted twice between Cincinnati and New York, while in 1903 it would be counted but once, making the former cost but half that of the latter, arraigned, showing that two tons of freight were hauled in 1899 for the same price as one ton in 1903, which would be a most remarkable increase in the freight rate.

"The actual revenue to the railroads of the country per ton in 1899 was $2.0678, while in 1903 it was $2.0945, a difference of 2.67 cents per ton. Multiplying this by the total of 638,800,658 tons of freight hauled in 1903, makes the increase in the charges, arising from increase in rates, only $17,087,279, instead of $155,475,502, as claimed by the Interstate Commerce commission."

A thing that is generally overlooked or disregarded by many American people, however, especially those with a tendency towards reform, is the fact that the men who best understand the ins and outs of any subject or business are the men who have spent years of their lives in that particular business, not the politicians magazine writers, or even the editors. The great problem for the American people to solve is not the ownership of various utilities, but the best, most successful and economical manner of operating them.

Philadelphia, after a fair trial, has decided against municipal ownership of the gas plant by leasing it to a private corporation, for 75 years for $25,000,000. There have been in connection with the deal, cries of "stop thief," of "gas grab" and such things, but the council has forged ahead with a determination which does not indicate either the craven nature of a grafter or the faltering tread of the weakling. The council must be certain that its action is the best thing for the people. Perhaps time will show that it is, despite the cries of "thieves," "robbers" and other such epithets when it had the courage to pass the ordinance.

Here is something that the health authorities overlook. Every morning scores of porters, clerks and even proprietors may be seen out in front of business houses sweeping trash and dirt from their stores onto the streets. Others have a long line, or a huge pile, of cuspidors filled with filth and disease germs, which they flush with a small garden hose and then empty onto the street—empty bodily, mind you on the street—and leave it there to be blown and strewn over the thoroughfare and become a constant menace to the public. Such filthy, disease-breeding customs should be forcibly stopped, if it is necessary to do it that way.

Some of the knockers argue that we'll never get anything down on this part of the Ohio river until the other fellows above have all they want. Well, it's better late than never, and we hope they'll hurry and get all they want. We are going to work hard for a nine foot stage, however, just the same.

Cairo is taking her defeat pretty hard, and the Bulletin publicly expresses thanks that the Indians left their ball park.

10,000 PEOPLE

VISITED CARNIVAL GROUNDS YESTERDAY AND LAST EVE.

It Was a Record Breaker—The Carnival Ends at 11:30 p. m. Tomorrow.

The carnival has already been a big success, even if no one else attended during the week. Last night the admissions were 9,810, possibly the largest attendance of any one night since Paducah began having carnivals.

The grounds were crowded from early evening until after midnight, and everyone had a good time. There were hundreds out to see the consolation of hands and the parade last night, and the "hobo band" of the I. C. boys was quite a feature.

Even after the excursion crowd left there was no perceptible diminution in the vast crowd on the grounds.

The numbers drawn for the gold watch are: 1,938, 1,861, and 2,597, good for twenty-four hours each respectively. The country store committee states that if none of the winning numbers are presented by 10:30 tomorrow night other numbers will be drawn and the prizes positively given away.

The German Village will close tonight and tomorrow night at 11 o'clock sharp, and the Carnival Association states that by 11:30 o'clock tomorrow night everything will be closed and the carnival will be over.

"My Own Story."

(Louisville Herald.)

From the facile and agreeable pen of Caleb Powers appears "My Own Story," a book of surpassing interest and instructiveness to present-day Kentuckians, and certain to be valuable to future generations. Mr. Powers is central figure in one of the most remarkable episodes in American history. He has suffered for conviction. His sufferings have been borne bravely. He has, by manful self-control under trials that had broken a weaker spirit, won the admiration of political opponents in his own state and of honorable, observant citizens of distinction in other states.

"My Own Story" is the narrative of a life, beginning in humble but honorable surroundings, leading up to the secretaryship of state of Kentucky, and thence to prison walls. The book deals with all the exciting features of the Goebel movement, and with the various so-called "trials" to which Mr. Powers has been subjected. This generation shall not pass away (it surprise shall be widely expressed that such deeds of injustice done under forms of law to destroy Mr. Powers were ever possible in old Kentucky, with all its grand traditions of fair play, truthfulness and chivalric honor between man and man. "My Own Story" ought to have a wide circulation. It is published by the "Hobbs-Merrill company," of Indianapolis, and should find place in every Kentucky home, and in other states besides.

NOT WELL.

Third Fugitive From Smithland Is Still at Large.

The man reported arrested as John Wells, the alleged murderer who broke out of the Smithland jail a week ago, proved to be the wrong man, and Wells is still at large. Jailer Threlkeld said today he had secured no trace of the fugitive. Three arrests have been made of negroes charged with assisting the three prisoners to get out of jail, and there are three or four more alleged to have been implicated in it, who are being sought by the authorities.

Harrisburg, Pa., May 19.—J. W. Anderson, of Pittsburgh, injured in the recent Pennsylvania wreck, died today. This makes the total deaths twenty-three.

An Early Preference.

Teddy hated the dark, and his mother was trying to cure him of his fear.

"Now, Teddy," she said as she tucked him in for the night, "you know who is always with you even in the dark."

"Well, I don't want a man, I want a woman," was his astonishing reply.

DIED IN MEXICO

MR. W. H. VIRGOE, SON-IN-LAW OF JUDGE CAMPBELL, DEAD.

Was a Metallurgist of Wide Experience—His Wife Was Formerly Miss Bessie Campbell.

News of the death of Mr. W. H. Virgoe, son-in-law of Judge James Campbell, of the city, was received this morning by telegram from Mexico City, Mexico. Few particulars of the death were received but it is presumed he died suddenly of heart trouble, of which he had been a sufferer.

He was married about nine years ago to Miss Bessie Campbell, of Paducah, and had lived in England, South America and the United States and Mexico since their marriage.

He leaves a father and mother, besides his wife. His father is now in this country and will probably go to Mexico City, where the body will presumably be buried.

LOUIS CLARK, GROCER

IN THE COURTS

Police Court.

Lee Mayer, formerly a clerk on the steamer Joe Fowler, who is charged with having embezzled $1,500 since February while acting as chief clerk, was tried in police court this morning and after a partial hearing of the evidence, waived further examination and was bound over to the circuit court under a $400 bond which he says he will give today or tomorrow.

Mayer did not take the stand but W. S. Gilbert, James Howard and John Helme, officers of the steamboat company, and Joe Fowler, testified. After they had made a statement Mayer's attorneys waived further examination.

Mayer was defended by Attorney J. M. Worthen, of the city, and Ex-Senator W. S. Morris, of Toledo, father-in-law of the defendant.

Other cases were: James Hoyer, white, drunk, $1 and costs; Newt L. Dixon, white, violate Sabbath, dismissed; Frank Thomas, colored, drunk and disorderly, $5 and costs.

The case of W. J. Hugg against E. D. Holt was concluded in circuit court yesterday afternoon and a verdict returned for the defendant. Holt bought a stump puller for $500 and tendered a note. The stump puller proved a failure and he refused to pay off the note and suit resulted.

Atlas Bradford and J. M. Ezell, petit jurors, were excused and Muscoe Burnett and Henry Mammen, Jr., substituted.

FEMALE GAMBLERS.

Detective Break in On Palace of Chance and Tertiary Fair Gamblers.

New York, May 19.—A gambling house for women has been raided in West Forty-third street by City Detectives. Gambling tables, roulette wheels, racing charts and telephones were confiscated and the only man found on the premises was arrested on charge of conducting the place.

A dozen or more handsomely garbed women were leaning excitedly over the tables when the police entered. With screams of alarm they ran to all parts of the house. Some escaped over the roof but the others were found in closets and the coal cellar. They pleaded hard for mercy and after taking their addresses and reading them a severe lecture the police allowed them to go. A big crowd which had assembled on the street jeered the women as they passed out.

Apparently the place was primarily a pool room, but had been fitted up with gambling paraphernalia so the habitués might find diversion between races.

"THE OLD DELIGHT"

Before Coffee Did Its Work.

When you get from food that power which keeps the heart beating high, full and regularly, and the nerves firm and steady, you may say with Monte Cristo, "The World is mine!"

All things that may be attained by human endeavor are possible to you.

But if you fill the stomach with drugs instead of food, you get only an unnatural stimulation which leaves you in worse condition than you were before. Coffee is a drug.

In time that sort of thing wears on you and wrecks the whole nervous system. Sure, sure, sure! A lady of Mamaroncy, N. Y., tells how she became a nervous wreck through the use of coffee:

"I had been a sufferer," she says, "from nervous indigestion for a number of years and doctored for the same without result. I was in part to blame, for although the physician forbade me the coffee, and limited me to a small allowance of ten, I failed to obey him, and continued to use coffee until I became a nervous wreck. My digestion got to be so poor that I was unable to eat scarcely anything. I became very much depressed and discouraged over my condition, for I had no hope of relief until a little more than a year ago a friend recommended Postum Food Coffee.

"I was greatly surprised to find that the new beverage acted almost immediately and most favorably upon my nerves. It certainly is a nerve builder, at least it has been in my case. In an incredibly short time my nervous indigestion disappeared entirely, and with it has gone the depression and 'blues' that follow in its train.

"I am careful to hold Postum Coffee from 20 to 30 minutes—then, using either boiled or condensed milk, or cream, the latter preferred, I have as delicious a beverage as the old coffee at its best, and never feel anything but pleasant effects from its use and the old delight of being well." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason. Read the little book "The Road to Wellville" in each pkg.

GRANTED RESPITE

GEORGE H. WARNER WAS NOT HANGED THIS MORNING.

He is Granted a Respite Until the 31st of This Month.

Louisville, Ky., May 19.—George H. Warner, slayer of Pulaski Leeds, received eight hours before time for his execution, a reprieve until May 31st in order that his sanity might be inquired into.

Warner had about given up hope, and was ready for the end when he received the respite. A strong effort has been made to save his life, and developments today after the governor had declined to interfere, indicate that he has some chance for a commutation.

APPROPRIATE DRESSING.

The Secret of Always Presenting a Good Appearance.

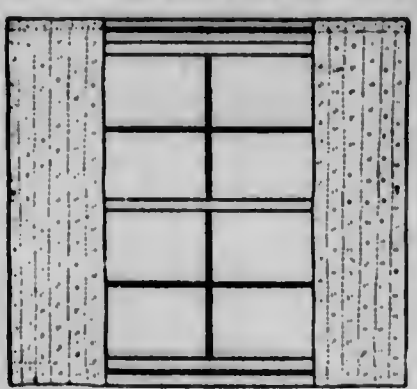

The great secret of a well dressed woman is that she is dressed appropriately for the occasion and yet not so ostentatiously as to attract adverse criticism. It is not difficult for a woman of means to own a wardrobe sufficiently large to admit of a woman suitable for almost any occasion, but it requires a clever hand for the woman of moderate wealth or slender income in choosing such costumes as may be adapted to suit more than one purpose and yet appear well dressed in these days of lavish expenditure. If she pauses to consider, however, she discovers that the best gown of a woman of her acquaintance are not those who spend the most money on dress. They may be, and probably are, a little extravagant in the matter of shoes, gloves and other dainty accessories that add "le dernier cri" to a well gown woman, but their frocks are more remarkable for their cut, their immaculate condition and general good style than for any lavish ornamentation or extravagance in color or price.

She must look as though just unpacked from a handbox—spotlessly neat, quietly but appropriately groomed, trim about the feet, hands and collar—and then no woman can be far astray from approval in both masculine and feminine eyes. A man takes in the general effect and judges of the whole rather than the details of a woman's appearance. A woman goes further, and although her quick eye may detect the quality of the material, she will forgive or ignore the knowledge provided that the wearer displays good taste and regard for the details of her toilet. Happy the woman who can pass in all respects the requirements of both these points of view.

TREATING A WINDOW.

How to Make a Tall, Narrow One Look Low and Wide.

Have you ever moved into a house and found fairly low ceilings that might have lent themselves to a quite artistic decoration had not the effect been marred by the tall, narrow window? I have, and after doing battle with it in my mind's eye for several days I hit upon the expedient of lowering the window in effect by widening it in reality. I hung a straight, smooth strip of Japanese crepe against the wall on either side of the window. The strip was only eighteen inches wide, but the effect produced was of a broad, low window.—Good Housekeeping.

Chicken Pudding.
An improvement on old fashioned chicken pie, which was always a rather insipid dish, is chicken pudding. Cut up two chickens, if a good sized pudding is wanted, and fry them in a very hot saucepan with chopped salt pork and a few slices of onion. The frying is merely to seal the outside, and five minutes is ample time to allow for this. Fill the saucepan half full of boiling water, season with salt and pepper and stew the chicken until it is quite tender. Remove from the liquor and place in a baking dish. Make a batter with flour, milk, a tablespoonful of butter and three eggs, whites and yolks beaten separately. Pour this over the chicken and bake. Boil down the liquor in which the chicken was stewed, thicken with a roux of flour and butter and serve in a sauce boat with the pudding.

The Popular Girl.
Be natural. People are quick to discern affection of any kind and have a contempt for it, so give up affectionation.
Be neat. There is a great charm in neatness.
Be affectionate and sympathetic and don't be self conscious and ashamed to show either quality.
Be home loving and kind to all old people, poor people and children. These are womanly qualities, and all love and admire the womanly girl.
Don't have "moods." Avoid the blues. People like to know how to find a girl, not to have to renew her acquaintance every time they meet.
Be athletic, as that means health, and healthiness means wholesomeness, and wholesomeness of mind and body is an invaluable quality.—American Queen.

Mrs. Emma A. Thomas.
A woman whose beneficent influence is felt in every state in the Union is Mrs. Emma A. Thomas of Detroit, Mich. When left a widow with three little ones, Mrs. Thomas went to Boston for training along special lines, meeting trials and discouragements that would have made most women despondent. Returning to her native state, she established a training school for teachers.

Saucepan.
A good way to clean saucepans is to fill the saucepan with water, add two tablespoonfuls of chloride of lime and boil for two hours. To remove smell, rinse well and wash well with soda water. Then it will look new. The same applies to any enamel ware.

The Riverman's Hobbyhorse.

Visitors to a quaint little church in England observe a curious relic in the shape of a high stool with a leather top like a saddle. The parish clerk shows not a little pride in this relic and tells its story with relish. During the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries the country parsons were accustomed to spend much of their time bunting with their country squires. Oftentimes the fox got more attention than the sermon on the following Sunday. Such was the case with the parson who left the saddle stool behind him as a relic of the days of fox hunting parsons. He was a good deal more at home in the saddle than in the pulpit, so in order to introduce some of the life and spirit into his discourses which he felt while in the hunting field, the reverend gentleman had this saddle stool made. It was placed in the pulpit before the parson mounted the steps. Once astride this hobby the parson was able to reach a much higher degree of enthusiasm and eloquence than he could have unmounted.

A Disconnected Committee.

Ferdinand Hassler, the father of the United States coast survey system, was once waited upon by a committee of congress sent to inquire into the progress of the work. The committee reached New York and wended their way upstairs to the room where Hassler was drilling his classes and preparing them for the work. Hassler, who allowed no intruders, met them at the door and inquired their business. They answered that they had come to investigate. "What part of the work do you wish to inspect?" inquired the Swiss mathematician. Congress had no definite idea on that point. "Then you had better go and find out," returned Hassler as he shut the door in the faces of the astonished committee. The committee looked at each other and on second sober thought concluded that Hassler was about right and quietly wended their way down stairs and back to Washington.

A Toad's Cautious.

A scientific journal tells this story of a toad's caution: A brood of chicks was fed with moistened meal in saucers, and when the dough soured a little it attracted large numbers of flies. An observant toad had evidently noticed this, and every day toward evening he would make his appearance in the yard, hop to a saucer, climb in and roll over until he was covered with meal, having done which he awaited developments. The flies, enticed by the smell, soon swarmed around the scheming batrachian, and whenever one passed within two inches or so of his nose his tongue darted out and the fly disappeared. The plan worked so well that the toad made a regular business of it.

Fever and Poisons.

In typhoid fever the intestines are the seat of the trouble, and all solid foods should be debarked. Here nutritious broths and liquids are needed, but no meat should be given until the temperature has been normal for several days. In scarlet fever avoid all autogenous foods, because the kidneys and skin are congested, and those are the organs that excrete nitrogen. Their work should be lessened, not increased. For this reason any of the legumes, beans, peas or lentils should not be used. Broth made from them would be most disastrous, while beef or mutton broth, which is less nutritious, can be readily assimilated.

A Good Blower.

A worthy dame of Dundee, Scotland, in order to keep down her gas account was in the habit of blowing down the pipes, thus reversing the hands of the registering dial of the meter. All went well until a new inspector came. After examining the meter he clapped long and earnestly. At length the old lady anxiously exclaimed, "Ain't no' the time a big account this time, am I?" "No, mem," said the inspector. "It's the other way about. The company's owing you luppence. You have surely been blowing verra hard this time."

Domestic Diplomacy.

Grimes—I suppose you tell your wife everything when you get home? Grant—No, not everything. Grimes—Of course not, but the things she wants to know. Grant—My dear fellow, those are the things I don't tell her. I use up so much time telling her the things she doesn't care to know that there is no time left for her to question me about the things she does want to know.—Boston Transcript.

Get out of the Rut.

It is never best to travel in a rut. It is wearisome. It is never destroying. Wise people choose the sunnier road, or if that road must be traveled they try to fill up the ruts with stones and gravel. There is such a thing as getting out of the rut, and the world would be better and happier if more of us did it.

Charm of Poverty.

Poverty adds a thousand charms to love. If there is more than enough for all one never knows the pleasure of choosing the mustiest piece of bacon when there are only two on the dish and love sits opposite.—Hubert Henry Davies.

The Shallows Murmur.

"He talks a great deal about his family tree." "Yes," answered Miss Cayenne. "A family tree is much like other trees—the smallest twigs do most of the rustling."—Washington Star.

Two Varieties of Unpopular Men.

There are two kinds of unpopular men: first, those who are naturally mean; second, those who do right and stand firm for the right.—Charlotte (N. C.) Chronicle.

RIVER NEWS

The river here is still rising, with 26 feet showing on the gauge, a rise of 1.3 feet since yesterday. Only a foot or two more are now expected.

The Kentucky has arrived out of Tennessee river and returns tomorrow night.

The Joe Fowler was the Evansville packet today.

The Hlek Fowler left at 8 a. m. today for Cairo with a good trip.

The Peters Lee is due to leave Memphis today for Cincinnati, and arrives here Sunday.

The City of Memphis is due tomorrow or Sunday from St. Louis for Tennessee river.

Kibbling Brothers' tug has arrived from Mound City to be floated on the docks for repairs.

The Summers has gone to Tennessee river and the Wilford to Cumberland river for ties.

A Cincinnati dispatch says: The Island Queen, with 1200 excursionists bound for Louisville, collided with a coal barge near the Chesapeake and Ohio bridge striking the barge. The Queen then proceeded down the river as far as Bromley, about three miles, when it was discovered that the vessel's rudder had been broken in the collision and rendered useless. The boat was compelled to return with help, to the wharf and unload her 1200 passengers, greatly disappointed. The fares of all were refunded.

River men at Paducah are much pleased over the fact that when the new city hospital here is opened they will be admitted when ill, instead of being sent to Cairo. Years ago there used to be a marine hospital here, and logically there ought to be one here now. Instead, the government maintains one at Evansville and one at Cairo, and river men from other places have to be sent to one or the other. The day is coming it is believed, when the marine hospital will be located in Paducah and both those at Cairo and Evansville be dispensed with, but hereafter all local river men may go to the city hospital when it is completed and opened.

The big Barrett barge which were brought down for paving Third Street, is now unloaded, and will be taken below and loaded somewhere for the return trip. These barges are never taken up empty.

Capt. Henry Smith, owner of the Wilford, has a peculiar faculty—a sort of sixth sense. He can merely by looking at the river, tell whether it is rising or falling. Capt. Smith does not know how he does it, or what there is in the appearance that enables him to determine the difference, but he says he can do it every time, and never fails. He does not tell by the drift as often the river is rising when there is no drift in it.

SIR HENRY MORGAN, BUCCANEER

By CYRUS TOWNSEND BRADY,
Author of "The Southerners," "For Love of Country," "The Grip of Honor," Etc.

COPYRIGHT, 1905, BY G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY

that, though they had enjoyed brief opportunity for personal intercourse, the very impossibilities of free communication, the difficulties of meeting, had not hindered and fire to their affection. Love had burned into their two hearts with all the intensity of their tropic blood and tropic land. Alvarado's passion could feed for days and grow large upon the remembrance of the fragrance of her hand when he kissed it last in formal salutation. Mercedes' soul could infold itself in the recollection of the too ardent pressure of his lips, the burning yet respectful glance he had cast at her, by others unperceived, when he said farewell. The situation was complicated in every possible way for Alvarado. Had he been a man of family, like his friend, De Tobar, he would have gone boldly to the viceroys and asked for the hand of his daughter, in which case he thought he would have met with no refusal; but, being ignorant of his birth, having not even a legal right to the name he bore, he knew that the proud old Hidalgo would rather see his daughter dead than wedded to him. Of all the ancient splendors of the Spanish people there was left them but one thing of which they could be proud—their ancient name. De Lara, who belonged to one of the noblest and most distinguished families of the Iberian peninsula, would never consent to degrade his line by allying his only daughter to a nobody, however worthy in other respects the suitor might prove to be.

Again, had Mercedes' father been any other than the lifelong patron and friend to whom he literally owed everything that he possessed, such was the hypersensitivity of Alvarado's disposition that at every hazard he would have taken the girl by stealth or force from her father's protection, made her his wife and sought an asylum in England or France or wherever he could. So desperate was his state of mind, so overwhelming his love, that he would have shrunk from nothing to win her. Yet just because the viceroys had been a father to him, just because he had loved him, had been unexampled in his kindness and consideration to him, just because he reposed such absolute confidence in him, the young man felt bound in honor by fetters that he could not break.

And there was his friendship for De Tobar. There were many young gentlemen about the vice-regal court who, jealous of Alvarado's favor and envy of his merits, had not scrupled in the face of his unknown origin to sneer, to mock or to slight so far as it was safe to do either of these things to so brave and noble a soldier. Amid these glibbed youths De Tobar, with noble unguineity and affection, had proved himself Alvarado's staunch friend. A romantic attachment had sprung up between the two young men, and the first candidate of De Tobar's love affairs had been Alvarado himself. To betray his friend was almost as bad as to betray his patron. It was not to be thought of.

Yet how could he, a man in whose blood-though it may have been ignoble for might he knew ran all the passions of his race with the fervor and fire of the best, a man who loved, as he did, the ground upon which the Señorita de Lara walked, stand by tamely and see her given to another, no matter who he might be?

Spain under the last poor, crazed, bewitched, degenerate descendant of the once formidable Hapsburgs had reached the lowest depths of ignominy and decay. Alone almost under her flag Venezuela was well governed from the Spanish standpoint, that is, from the native American point of view the rule of even the gentlest of Spaniards had made a hell on earth of the fairest countries of the new continent. Of all the cities and garrisons which were under sway of the Viceroy de Lara, La Guayra was the best governed and the least cruel. But it did not require a great deal of time or attention from so skilled a commander as Alvarado to keep things in proper shape. Time, therefore, hung heavily on his hands.

On the other side of the mountain range, after a descent of several thousand feet to a beautiful verdant valley whose stillness tempered the tropic heat of the low latitude into a salubrious and delightful climate, lay the palace of the viceroys and the city which surrounded it, St. Jago, or Santiago de Leon, commonly called the city of Caracas.

Many a day had Alvarado turned backward from the white walled, red roofed town spread out at his feet, looking under the palms, seeking in the fierce heat, as if striving to pierce with his gaze the great convulsions on the farther side of which in the cool white palace beneath the gigantic elms the queen of his heart made her home. He pictured her at all hours of the day; he dwelt upon her image, gazing over again in his mind each detail of her face and figure.

He was mad, mad with love for her, crazed with hopeless passion. There seemed to be no way out of his misery but for him to pass his own sword through his heart, or to throw himself from the precipice, or to plunge into the cruel line of the enveloping Caribbea, the color of the sea changed to his eye with his temper, like a woman's mood. Yet he was young; he hoped in spite of himself. He prayed—for he was not old enough to have lost faith—and he planned. Besides, he was too brave a soldier to kill himself, and she was not yet married. She was not formally betrothed even, although it was well known that her father looked favorably upon De Tobar's suit; no formal announcement had been made of it as yet. So, in spite of his judgment, he dreamed. The thoughts of youth and love are long, long thoughts, indeed.

That morning the young captain, engrossed in his emotions, was not aware of the approach of a messenger until the clank of the man's sword upon the stone flags of the plaza caused him to lift his head. He was a soldier, an officer of the bodyguard of the viceroys, and he bore in his hand a letter sealed with the De Lara coat of arms. The messenger saluted and handed the packet to the captain.

Captain Alvarado

"Yesterday evening his excellency the viceroys charged me to deliver this letter to you today."

"Padrique," called Alvarado to a servant, "a flagon of wine for the cavalier. My your leave, sir," he continued, with formal politeness, opening the packet and reading the message:

To the Captain Alvarado, Comandante of La Guayra, Greeting:

As one faithful to the fortunes of our family we would crave your honorable presence at our palace in Santiago tomorrow evening. In view of your service and devotion we have done you the honor to appoint you as one of the witnesses to the formal betrothal of our daughter, Señora Mercedes, to your friend, Don Felipe de Tobar. After that, as we have received appeals for help from the Orinoco country, we propose to lend him most catholic majesty's imperial troops, thither in person to oversee the natives, and, reposing full trust in your fidelity and honor, we desire to commit the Donna Mercedes to your safe keeping in our city of La Guayra until we return. Therefore make your preparations accordingly. Given under our hand and seal.

DE LARA, Viceroy.

Convulsion, Fits, then Epilepsy.

Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine has been so successful in curing these brain-wrecking diseases that there is every reason to believe that even the most hopeless cases can be benefited, if not fully restored.

We will be pleased to refer any one thus afflicted to many who now enjoy the blessing of health, after years of hopeless suffering.

"I have a son that had brain fever when two years old, followed by fits of the worst type, and he was pronounced incurable. I spent hundreds of dollars for him, without relief. After about fifteen years he became so bad that we sent him to Longport hospital for the insane, and he was there three years, but he continued to grow worse, so we brought him home July 30, 1902. In an awful condition. He had lost his mind almost entirely. He hardly knew one of the family, could not even find his bed; was a total wreck. He had from 5 to 10 fits a day. We were urged to try Dr. Miles' Nervine, and before the first bottle was used, we could see a change for the better. We have given it to him ever since, and he has had two very light spells since last August, 1903, and then he was not well other than he is now. He can now do his own work and go anywhere. If any one wishes to ask any questions concerning this, they are at liberty to do so."

Dr. H. BUNNELL, Lincoln, Ind.

Dr. Miles' Nervine is sold by your druggist, who will guarantee that the first bottle will benefit. If it fails, he will refund your money.

and happiness. The young man went white before the keen eye of the messenger, who, in common with other officers of the viceroys' court, suspected what was, indeed, concealed from no one save the father and lover. His heart almost stopped its beating, yet, summoning his resolution, he recovered himself by an effort that left him trembling, the sweat beading his forehead.

"Say to his excellency the viceroys that I thank him for the honor he does me. I shall wait upon him tomorrow and obey his commands."

CHAPTER X.

ALVARADO was alone in the cabinet of the viceroys, to which his rank and the favor in which his excellency held him gave him access at all times.

He had ridden all day over the rough road that winds over the mountains from La Guayra to Caracas. The storm, which had raged down the mountain side all afternoon, matched the tumult in his soul, and the sheets of rain blown upon him by the fierce wind had not cooled the fever of his agitation. The unmet request was one of the most terrible that had swept over the coast in years. He had marked as he rode a huge ship far to seaward, staggering along under shortened canvas and laboring tremendously in the heavy seas. But his thoughts were so centered upon the situation in which he found himself that he had not particularly noticed the vessel, although passing ships were infrequent sights off the port of La Guayra. Pale, haggard and distraught from his mental struggle, he had crossed the pass at the summit of the mountain and descended into the fertile valley now adrift with rain and looking almost cold under the gray sky and had presented himself at the palace of the viceroys.

He had changed his apparel after his reception, and his old sergeant had polished his breastplate until it fairly blazed with light, for though the occasion was one of peace he had felt that he could better sustain his part in the military uniform in which he had won his only title to consideration. Consequently his appearance in the brilliantly lighted hall of the palace among the gay courtiers resplendent in magnificent attire, blinding with jewels, threw a somber note over the proceedings.

It was as a soldier he had won fame and the consideration of the viceroys; in no other capacity, so far as any man knew, had he the right to enter that assemblage of the rich and well born. It was as a soldier he would perform that hardest of all duties which had ever been laid upon him by his friend and patron, the governor.

Pale, stern, composed, he stood at the figure of repression. So severe was the constraint that he put upon himself that he had given no sign of his emotion, even at the near approach of Donna Mercedes, and the hand which signed his name beneath her father's as the principal witness was as steady as if it held merely the sword in some deadly combat. He endured passively the affectionate greetings of the happy De Tobar, who was introduced at the assurance afforded by the betrothal of the coming realization of all his hopes. He sustained with firmness the confidence of the viceroys and the admissions De Lara made to him by private of his pleasure in the suitable and fortunate marriage which was there arranged. He even bore without breaking one long, piteous appeal which had been shot at him from the black eyes of the unhappy Mercedes.

To her he seemed preternaturally cold and indifferent. He was so strong, so brave, so successful. She had counted upon some interposition from him, but the snow-capped Andes were no colder than he appeared, their granite sides no more rigid and unsympathetic. It was with a feeling almost of anger and resentment at last that she had signed the betrothal contract.

But the restraint on the man was more than he could bear. Pleading ill-disposition, he early begged leave to withdraw from the festivities which succeeded the completion of the betrothal ceremony and the retirement of the ladies. At the suggestion of the viceroys, who said he desired to consult with him later in the evening, he went into the deserted cabinet of the latter.

The palace was built in the form of a quadrangle around an open patio. A balcony ran along the second story, passing the viceroys' cabinet, beyond which was his bedroom and beyond that the apartments of his daughter. The rain had ceased and the storm had spent itself. It was a calm and beautiful night. The moon, shining with tropic splendor through the open window, dispensed with the necessity of lights. There was no one in the cabinet when he entered, and he felt at last able to give way to his emotion. Mercedes, though she was not married, was now lost to him beyond recovery. After the women withdrew from the hall with Donna Mercedes there was no restraint put upon the young couples, and from the other side of the patio came the sound of uproarious revelry and feasting, his friends and comrades with generous cheer following the happy bridegroom that was to be. Alvarado was alone, undisturbed, forgotten, and likely to remain so. He put his head upon his hands and groaned in anguish.

"Why should it not have been I?" he murmured. "Is he stronger, braver, a better soldier? Does he love her more? Richer? Can I not acquire them? Fame? Have I not a large measure? Birth? Ah, that is it! My father! My mother! If I could only know! How she looked at me! What piteous appeal in her eyes! What reproach when I stood passive, cased in iron, with a breaking heart! Mercedes! Mercedes!"

In his anguish he called the name aloud. So absorbed and preoccupied

CHRONIC SORES

Wheeling, W. Va., May 25, 1904.
Some years ago while at work, I fell over a truck and severely injured both of my shins. My blood became poisoned as a result, and the doctor told me I would have running sores for life, and that if they were healed up the result would be fatal. Under this discouraging report I left off the treatment and resorted to the use of S. S. S. Its effects were prompt and gratifying. It took only a short while for the medicine to entirely cure up the sores, and I am not dead as the doctors intimated, nor have the sores ever broke out again. Some 12 years have elapsed since what I have described occurred. Having been originally benefited by it, I can heartily recommend it as the one great blood purifier.

JOHN W. FUNDIS.

Care Schmittback Brewing Co.

Chronic sores start often from a pimple, scratch, bruise or boil, and while calves, sores and pox are beneficial, the unhealthy matter in the blood must be driven out or the sore will continue to eat and spread. S. S. S. reaches these old sores through the blood, removes all impurities and poisons, builds up the entire system and strengthens the circulation. S. S. S. is a blood purifier and tonic combined. Contains no mineral what-so-ever but is guaranteed purely vegetable. If you have an old sore write us and our physicians will advise without charge. Book on diseases of the blood free.

In his grief had been that he was not aware of a figure softly moving along the balcony in the shadow. He did not hear a footfall coming through the open window that gave into the room. He did not realize that he had an auditor to his words, a witness to his grief, until a touch soft as a snowflake fell upon his fair head and a voice for which he languished while perched his ear:

"You called me, I am come."
"Señorita Mercedes!" he cried, lifting his head and gazing upon her in startled surprise. "How came you here?" he asked brusquely, catching her hands with a fierce grasp in the intensity of his emotion as he spoke.

"Is this my greeting?" she answered, surprised in turn that he had not instantly swept her to his heart. She strove to draw herself away, and when he perceived her intent he opened his hands and allowed her arms to fall by his side.

"I have been mistaken," she went on piteously. "I am not married."

A Positive Necessity.

Having to lay upon my bed for 14 days from a severely bruised leg, I only found relief when I used a bottle of Ballard's Snow Liniment. I can cheerfully recommend it as the best medicine for bruises ever sent to the afflicted. It has now become a positive necessity upon myself. D. H. HOW THEY ESCAPED

SMITHLAND MURDERERS HAD A FILE, ACID AND A TORCH.

Were Assisted by at Least Half a Dozen From the Outside, in Making Their Escape.

Will Stanley and Cecil Berry, colored, have been arrested at Smithland for assisting the three murderers, Jim Cowan, John Wells and Will Proctor to escape from jail there last week. The Smithland Banner says the captured fugitives give the following account of how they escaped:

"Andy Clemens, the colored prisoner who was left in the yard the next morning, was one of the main schemers in getting the tools with which they cut out. The work was done with a common cross-cut saw file, a bottle of acid and a torch to heat the bars. Negroes here in town furnished the material and passed it through the bars from the outside by means of a long pole. It seems that there were about five or six into the plot, all of whom live here in town."

"Everything was ready for the escape at sun-down Thursday evening and the prisoners left the jail about 8 o'clock that night. Cowan, Wells and Proctor left here for Paducah and from there to Caseyville by rail, while Andy Clemens slipped out and staid at home that night and came back next morning to report the absence of the other prisoners."

R. N. Andrews, editor and manager Cocoon and Rockledge News, Cocoon, Fla., writes: "I have used your Herbline in my family and find it a most excellent medicine. Its effects upon myself have been a marked benefit. I recommend it unhesitatingly." 50c.

The Couple Married Here.

The Livingston Banner has the following to say about a couple married here a few days ago: "Last week Pleas Shoemaker applied to the county clerk here to issue license to marry, and being refused, he boarded a boat and took his intended bride, Mrs. Cosby, to Paducah and came back a married man. The widow had three children and came here only a few days before, almost at the mercy of the charity of the people. This and the fact that Shoemaker is kept by the county, is the reason for his being refused license here."

Growing Aches and Pains.

Mrs. Josie Sumner, Hremond, Tex., writes, April 15, 1902: "I have used Ballard's Snow Liniment in my family for three years. I would not be without it in the house. I have used it on my little girl for growing pains and aches in her knees. It cured her right away. I have also used it for frost bitten feet, with good success. Given Fourteen Years.

Madisonville, May 19.—Jeff Morgan, on trial here for the killing of Perd Lutz was found guilty in the circuit court and given fourteen years in the penitentiary. The verdict was a surprise as a much heavier penalty had been anticipated.

After being indicted he broke out of jail and was not captured for several days. It is probable that an appeal will be sought.

Drops Dead in Barber Shop.
Hickman, Ky., May 19.—Warner Brevard dropped dead while in a barber shop. He had just gotten a shave and stepped from the chair to the back of the barber shop, where he fell. He was about 35 years old and single.

GOOD BREAD.

The Way to Have Loaves That Will Be Soft and Elastic.
Put four tablespoonfuls of shortening, either butter and lard mixed or one of the good fats on the market; two tablespoonfuls of sugar and a tablespoonful of salt into a bread raiser and pour over it a quart of boiling water. Place a yeast cake in half a cupful of lukewarm water and stir with a teaspoon till dissolved. When the water in the bread pan becomes lukewarm pour in the yeast and stir thoroughly. Add five cupfuls of sifted flour, beating it as it goes in with a wire whisk. When it becomes too thick to move with the whisk use a slotted wooden spoon and stir thoroughly, so that the flour and wetting may become well mixed. When it is spongy, but not dry, turn it out on a well floured molding cloth and knead. It can hardly be too well kneaded. It is the kneading that gives it the satiny smoothness and the elasticity which are invariable tests of good bread. It ought even during this process to begin to show bubbles in its texture. Knead them out as much as possible. When dough is put back in the pan to rise with bubbles showing here and there it will be full of holes and poor of taste after it has been baked. After the kneading is finished and the dough feels as smooth as silk wash the bread raiser and dry it; then rub well inside with butter or lard before putting the dough back again for the second raising. If this plan is followed the bread will slip out so clean after it has risen that the pan will scarcely require washing.—Good House-keeping.

EXERCISE FOR BABY.

Give the Infant Freedom to Kneel and Roll and Crawl.

Tiny infants need exercise as much as other human beings do. They have a natural instinct for it. Watch even a very young baby as it lies in your lap with its clothing removed and see how it will twist and wriggle and move its little arms and feet. As soon as it is able it will toss them about, draw them up and thrust them out, often uttering little squeals and noises of contentment. Its little efforts at original gymnastics should be helped, and he should be given a special chance each day to stretch his small muscles. A daily airing is not enough, and from the first the long-akirts and bandages should be loosened regularly and his body given full freedom.

Put him on the bed at first and let him lie there and kick. Of course the room must be warm, so that he will not feel the lack of his skirts. Five or ten minutes of this fun will do him a world of good. When he is several months old he can be put down on a rug after warm weather has come, but this would not be advisable during the winter, for floors are drafty.

He will not have enjoyed the rug on the floor so very long before it will be seen that he is learning to get about in some sort of way. His efforts probably will make creeping motions, or it may be that he is beginning to roll from place to place.

Some babies have been known to hitch themselves about seated on the floor. However he makes his progress, it really doesn't matter, for any of the movements is giving him the exercise he needs, and that is the main thing.

CULINARY CONCEITS.

Lamb chops are delicious if dipped in lemon juice just before broiling.

If onions are strong, change the water several times while they are boiling.

Potatoes will bake more rapidly if a pan of water is put into the oven with them.

Some cooks soak salt ham overnight in milk before broiling for breakfast. Salt mackerel is said to be improved by soaking in sour milk.

All starchy foods require long cooking. Albuminous foods, such as eggs, oysters, etc., must be cooked at low temperature or they will harden.

The notice should memorize this rule: White meats well done; dark meats underdone, except in fowls, which should always be thoroughly cooked.

When tomatoes and milk are to be put together, as in a cream soup, have the tomato juice and milk of the same temperature, then heat vigorously as the tomato is added little by little.

Valuable Kitchen Utensil.
A small kitchen utensil which has manifest uses is a measuring cup, funnel and strainer combined. The upper portion is grooved to measure a half cup, cup, cup and a half and a pint. It has a substantial handle attached, and the bottom screws in place. This bottom part may be macerated, and in its place are two sieves, one very fine, the other a little coarser, either of which may be used as desired. When the bottom of the cup is left open it fits inside the top of the fruit jar and may be used for filling jars when canning. Still another attachment to be screwed in place is a small funnel. This utensil is one of the most practical small articles which the housekeeper can possess. It is not at all complicated and has no part which cannot be kept perfectly clean.—Housekeeper.

Grease Stains on Carpets.
To remove grease stains from a carpet one of the simplest methods is to pound together equal weights of lump soda and fuller's earth and then to mix them into a paste with a little boiling water. Spread this paste while still hot upon the grease marks and leave it till quite dry. Then brush it off and you will find the carpet free of grease, for it has been absorbed by the paste.

HOT PRIMARY.

Held Yesterday in Nashville—Morris Gets Majority Nominations.

Nashville, Tenn., May 19.—The municipal democratic primary yesterday was one of the hottest ever contested in Nashville. There were so many cross currents that it was impossible for the prognosticators to predict results with any degree of certainty when the polls opened.

The contest of the Nashville Home Telephone company, a branch of the Louisville company, for a telephone and conduit franchise, and the Cumberland's efforts to prevent such a grant, entered largely into the contest, and mixed up the voters.

Morris led Williams, present incumbent for mayor, by 300 votes. McAllister won for city attorney over three competitors.

Four of the councilmen who opposed the submission to the people of the Home Telephone franchise are defeated, but some of the councilmen who supported the measure have also lost out.
